

LORD PAUNCEFOTE HAS PASSED AWAY

British Ambassador Dies at His Home in Washington This Morning.

WAS A NOTED MAN

The Behring Sea Treaty and Venezuela Boundry Settlement, His Work.

IS MOURNED BY ALL

Washington, D. C., May 24.—Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador to the United States, died this morning at 5:30 o'clock, his death resulting from a complication of stomach and liver troubles. He had been in ill health for a year or more, his preliminary ailment being gout but only for the last two months had his condition been considered serious. His advanced age operated against his recovery.

By Lord Pauncefote's death, the German ambassador, Hollen, becomes the dean of the diplomatic corps. The deceased diplomat was a member of the permanent court of arbitration for the settlement of international disputes.

The death of the distinguished diplomat was painless and peaceful. Lady Pauncefote and her three daughters were at the bedside when he passed away. The last word was, "Yes, in answer to the question: Whether he would like a drink of water."

Lord Julian Pauncefote was in the seventy-fourth year of his life when the end came. He was the youngest son of the late Robert Pauncefote, Esq., of Preston Court, in the 1820s. His education was received in Paris and Geneva and subsequently in England, at Marlborough college. Thus the young man was an early traveler and grew up in that golden time when the spirit of Byron still ruled the world of sentiment. Young Pauncefote fell under the spell of the age and was no inconsiderable poet and musician. Under the name of "A Templar," he composed a number of very attractive poems and songs.

A Great Diplomat
Not as a singer of sweet songs did he win fame, however but as a diplomatic leader of rare force and ability. He was originally intended for the military profession but later became a lawyer. In July, 1855, he first came into touch with politics as private secretary to the late Sir William Molesworth, minister for the colonies in the Palmerston cabinet. Later he rendered noteworthy service to this same department.

Lord Pauncefote's public life was divided into three parts, legal, departmental and diplomatic. His legal work is covered by his practice at Hong Kong which was so successful that in 1866 he was appointed attorney general of the colony. He was also for a time Acting Chief Justice and prepared for the government a comprehensive code of civil procedure which is still in force in the supreme court. In 1873 he was appointed the first chief justice of the British Leeward Islands and in January, 1874, the honor of knighthood was conferred on him.

Enters Departmental Service
His knowledge of the colonies was so valuable that he was recalled to England that same year and appointed Legal Assistant Under-Secretary of State at the Colonial office, the office being created for him. His capacity for political as well as for legal work became noteworthy and in 1882 he was promoted to the important diplomatic position of Permanent Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. For distinguished services in this, the departmental period of his life, he was made a companion of the Order of the Bath, then knight commander of the same order and a knight commander of the order of St. Michael and St. George. Later he was rewarded by promotion to the Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George for valuable services as the British delegate to the commission which sat in Paris for some months in 1885 to draw up regulations for the navigation of the Suez canal. Career in Washington

In 1889 he was elected to succeed Sir Lionel Sackville West as British minister at Washington, a great compliment to his political and diplomatic ability and full recognition for his distinguished position as an authority on international law. He came to Washington when the British legation was under a cloud and when much of the public resentment against his predecessor included the English people generally. During the early years of Lord Pauncefote's ministry, the relations between England and the United States were decidedly strained and full credit must be given to the tactful and conciliatory efforts by which courteous Englishmen brought the two governments to an amicable settlement of difficulties. The Behring Sea treaty and the treaty fixing the boundary between Venezuela and British Guiana, involving the Monroe doctrine, are notable instances.

His Work Changed History
Lord Pauncefote's work in Washington, extending over a period of thirteen years, was so far reaching in its character, has actually so shaped history that any brief appreciation of it is impossible. The work which has most endeared him to his American cousins was performed during the trying period of the Cuban war when by the discharge of very important and delicate functions he established the cordial relations which now exist between the two countries. His services in Washington were rewarded in England by many honors. In 1892 he was promoted to the Grand Cross of the Bath, the most coveted of all British decorations. In 1894 he was sworn in as a member of the Queen's Right Honorable Privy Council and on his return from the peace conference at The Hague he was made a peer of the United Kingdom. His career in the service was so memorable that he enjoyed the unusual distinction of having his term of service extended over the age limit.

Loved in England and America
By his courtesy, his unfailing patience, his firmness in upholding his own country's interests and his appreciation of the rights of others he won golden opinions from all parties in the United States. He was universally admired and loved and over his silent form America and England bow in a common bereavement and a common sorrow.

A GRAND PARADE

Washington, D. C., May 24.—With impressive ceremony and in the presence of a most distinguished audience the Rochambeau statue was unveiled here this morning. The actual unveiling being performed by the Countess Rochambeau, the wife of a lineal descendant of the famous French soldier who aided so materially in securing the liberty of the American colonies with the President of the United States, members of the cabinet, general commanding the French army and other high personages as witnesses, she pulled the cord that unveiled the statue shortly after eleven.

Impressive Scene
The celebration was marked by enthusiasm and sincerity unmarred by any lurking suspicion of any political purposes. Early in the morning the United States soldiers and sailors and seamen from the French cruiser Gaulois took up places around the statue. At the appointed time the others who were to be chief actors in the unveiling arrived. The ceremonies began promptly at eleven with prayer, followed by an address of welcome by President Roosevelt.

WHITEHEAD WAS WELL ENDORSED

Despite Democratic Voters the City Went for Him and for Cooper.

HALF BREEDS BLUE

La Follette Carried Edgerton and Evansville, But the Voters Did Not Turn Out.

A DECISIVE VICTORY

By the machinations of the Thoroughbred republicans and their democratic friends, who voted at last night's caucuses, the real sentiment of the people of Janesville and the surrounding country was not really shown. Yet despite all the efforts of the supporters of the executive ring Janesville gave Senator Whitehead an endorsement and showed clearly the county of Rock is with their son who is the candidate for the nomination of governor.

Throughout the city the caucuses were largely attended. Mayor Richardson was used as a stalking horse to try and capture some of the votes of the unwary, who did not know just the significance of the whole issue and really believed the statements of the executive ring that they were keeping their hands off the congressional conventions and did not intend to allow state and national politics to become mixed.

A Decisive Victory
So decisive was the victory that even some of the prominent LaFollette shouters last night admitted that they now conceded the nomination of Senator Whitehead at the state convention in July. Their one bit of consolation was that, through their methods they had carried the caucuses in Edgerton and Evansville thus assuring the First assembly district. Yet with even that the decisive vote of the cities of Janesville and Beloit with their combined 73 votes went solidly against them and gave them something to explain to the heads of the party whom they have been assuring for weeks that they would carry these two cities by overwhelming majorities.

Control Convention
The total make-up of the coming county convention give the Whitehead men 114 delegates out of the 163 and two towns were not able to hold caucuses thus cutting the total vote down. It gives them the entire say as to resolutions and places it in their power to endorse Whitehead, Spooner and Cooper.

Went For Cooper
Aside from the fight on Whitehead the Thoroughbreds also made a strong fight on Congressman Cooper. That is they used Mayor Richardson to cover up their tracks and methods of knocking Senator Whitehead. As a machine they rang in the democrats in many of the wards even the democrats themselves were ashamed and hung their heads as they walked up and deposited their votes in the box.

The Fourth ward, where Senator Whitehead lives, was the scene of their greatest efforts. In spite of all their endeavors this ward gave Whitehead a vote of 183 to LaFollette's 100, giving Senator Whitehead the endorsement of the better element of the ward.

Vote By Wards
The vote and delegates by wards in the city was as follows:

First Ward—Sanford Soverhill, A. Jackson, W. J. Cannon, J. T. Snyder, W. W. Willoy, Anton Berkness, C. W. Dailey, Silas Hayner. Vote, Stalwarts, 147; LaFollette, 96.

Second Ward—O. D. Rowe, W. T. Scofield, Wm. Fathers, Henry Rogers, A. C. Jenkins, C. J. Schottle. Vote, Stalwarts, 92; LaFollette, 63.

Third Ward—Jas. A. Fathers, E. C. Bailey, N. L. Carle, C. D. Child, G. F. Kimball, A. F. Lee, H. J. Cunningham, E. D. McGowan, Robert Krahmer, Floyd Hurd. Vote, Stalwarts, 208; LaFollette, 113.

Fourth Ward—S. C. Cobb, Fred P. Grove, L. A. Hemmens, Harry W. Gaulke, John Koerner, A. G. Anderson, Chas. Swanson. Vote, Stalwarts, 183; LaFollette, 100.

Fifth Ward—Wilson Lane, Carl Pabst, J. G. Wray, Al Schaller. Vote, Stalwarts, 49; LaFollette, 35.

Dahle Declares War
Herman Dahle, the congressman from the Dane county district, who was turned down by the governor a few weeks ago, has carried the war into the enemies' camp. He has boldly thrown the gauntlet and from now on will fight the executive machine that purposed his downfall for their own political ends. A Washington dispatch says of the situation:

Washington, D. C., May 24.—Congressmen Dahle has withdrawn his recommendation for the reappointment of General George W. Burchard as postmaster of Fort Atkinson. This is looked upon as the first act of war on the part of the congressman in his fight for a re-nomination.

General Burchard is a warm friend and follower of former Gov. W. D. Hoard and therefore a supporter of Governor LaFollette. Prior to the discovery which Congressman Dahle is said to have made of a plot on the part of the governor and his friends to defeat him for the re-nomination he had recommended the re-appointment of General Burchard. Since the break between him and the governor attempts have been made to have General Burchard's appointment confirmed, but the movement has been blocked.

That Mr. Dahle has withdrawn the appointment is looked upon as a carrying of the war into the enemy's country. General Burchard, who is thus made the shuttlecock between the two political battlefields, is one of the best known politicians in the state. He was private secretary for Governor Smith and president of the first state board of control. He was dropped by Governor Rusk. He nominated Governor Hoard the first time he was a candidate for governor, and when the latter took his seat his first act was to appoint General Burchard as his adjutant general. The general retired with Governor Hoard when he was defeated for re-election and has since made his home in Fort Atkinson.

MISTAKES IN THE SUBSTITUTE BILL

Second Primary Bill Is Worse Than First, as Regards Free Votes.

DESTROYS PARTIES

Senator Whitehead Points Out the Errors and Shows Its Weak Points.

STRONG ARGUMENTS

Senator Whitehead again appears before the voters of Rock county with an able expose of the fallacy of the Stevens bill about which so much has been said and on whose merits the Gov. is posing at the present time for nomination and vindication of his tyrannical rule of the last state legislature.

Senator Whitehead takes for his text of his eighth letter the substitute for the Stevens bill that was presented to the consideration of the legislature last winter when the Governor and his cohorts saw that they were not going to be able to shove the bill aside, stood into the maws of the assemblymen and senators.

He picks the substitute bill to pieces showing its weakness and quoting freely from the text to explain just how the measure would have effected the voters of the state, had it been passed.

The explanation is written in the Senator's clear and original language and dwells so closely on the real purpose and reason the bill was ever presented, that the voter has the opportunity to get an inside opinion on the much mooted question and he prepared to vote for men who will swallow up the real liberties of the voter in personal ambition.

Janesville, Wis., May—, 1902.

To The Gazette:
The Stevens Bill was introduced January 28, 1902. The public arguments on the bill, for and against it, continued from week to week, until about February 28th, when the Assemblyman Committee on Privileges and Elections gave notice of an executive session of the committee to be held that day, and invited suggestion for amendments to the bill to be submitted in writing. The committee retained the bill in its possession until March 18th, when it reported a substitute bill printed and ready for our files. The new bill proceeded, in the main, along the lines on which the Stevens Bill had been drawn but certain of the objections made upon the argument of that bill, having doubtless been recognized as valid, occasioned some changes.

Our attention is again drawn by a study of the Substitute bill to the platform statement with reference to the Australian Ballot. The Substitute Bill provided a ballot which obviated difficulties surrounding the use of the ballot proposed in the Stevens Bill, but was objectionable on other grounds. I quote as follows:

"Section 13. At all primary elections there shall be an Australian Ballot, made up of the several tickets herein provided for, all of which shall be securely fastened together at the top, provided that there shall be as many separate tickets as there are parties entitled to participate in said primary election. There shall also be a non-partisan ticket, upon which, under the appropriate title of each office, shall be printed the names of all persons for whom nominations papers shall have been filed as required by this act, who are not designated on such nomination papers as candidates of any political party."

A new feature here introduced was that all the different tickets to be used at the primary election were to be fastened together at the top, so that the voter would have in his possession each one of the party tickets, and could turn them over as he would the leaves of a note book. This "non-partisan ticket" was not provided for in the Stevens Bill, but the other tickets were the same as before. The requirement that parties should make their nominations on the same date, at the same place, and by the use of the same ballot, suggested the possibility of an embarrassment to parties, for relief from which they might have had to apply to the courts.

The primary election was to be the time when, under all the claims of the advocates of the bill, and under the literal reading of the platform declaration, there was to be insured to "each voter an equal voice in the selection of the candidates of his party without let or hindrance on the part of any man." The form of ballot proposed in the Substitute Bill offered an opportunity to the voters of all parties to mass in an effort to force upon any party an obnoxious candidate.

The Substitute Bill endeavored to safeguard the use of the ballot by the following:

"Section 17.—They shall put aside date and not count for any candidate any ballot upon which an elector has attempted to vote for candidates upon more than one ticket of such ballot."

This protection would have been inadequate, even if it had been proper, to throw out an elector's vote, to checkmate the scheme of massing voters of all parties in support of particular candidates of some one party by inducing them to forego a vote for any other candidate on the ticket of their own party; in other words, to leave their own party candidates named on their own ticket to shift for themselves, in order that they might foist candidates upon some party whose nomination would not have been made by the voters of that party. If half that was asserted by the friends of these bills regarding political trickery were true, one might frequently expect, especially in primaries relating to nominations for city offices, to see practiced such an imposition as I have just described. The supreme court of California used this language in a primary election case:

"that electors holding certain political principles in common may freely assemble, organize themselves into a political party, and use all legitimate means to carry their principles of government into active operation through the suffrages of their fellows."

Under the bill, as interpreted by its advocates, every possible advantage, and of course, every possible protection, was to be given to the individual voter that he might "exercise his sovereign right of choice" by direct vote in making nominations for office; but, at the same time, the friends of the bill insisted that they had no disposition to interfere with parties or to permit the voters of different parties to interfere with each other. The attempt to maintain the party led the framers of the Stevens Bill into an untenable position respecting the secrecy of the ballot, and then, in the attempt to escape from this position, party protection, with respect to the integrity of the party ballot, was lost sight of. If we admit that the form of ballot provided in either the Stevens Bill or the Substitute Bill was to all intents and purposes the Australian Ballot, then the only conclusion to be reached by the legislature was that the declaration of the platform was impracticable, for the reason that in the one bill the secrecy of the ballot was sacrificed, and, in the other, the party control of the ballot. The Australian Ballot is practicable, and probably a permanent feature of our general election laws, but, under a primary election system for the nomination of candidates, where all parties are required to act at the same place and time, and by the same ballot, in the light of all that was brought to our knowledge in the consideration of these two bills, about its possible uses and adaptabilities to primary elections, we may certainly expect it to be regarded as entirely unsatisfactory and inefficient, whether judgment be passed upon it by the individual voter, political party or court.

The main features of the Stevens Bill, with reference to the methods to be pursued in making nominations to be voted for at a primary election were, with minor changes, brought into the Substitute Bill. In the case of candidates for state offices, the nomination papers were to be circulated and signed by at least two percent of the party vote in each of the twenty counties, instead of twelve. In the case of candidates for the State Senate and Assembly, the electors signing nomination papers were to reside in at least two-thirds of the election precincts in the district, instead of one-fifth.

There was added a new provision, which I quote as follows:

"Section 4. In the case of petitions filed for non-partisan candidates the petition shall contain at least four per cent. of the total vote cast at the last preceding election. In the state or subdivision thereof in which the person is a candidate, such signers to be distributed in each case" as required for other nomination papers of regular party candidates. I have already pointed out what I deem to be valid objections to the petition system of making nominations for the primary election, and to the percentage limitation on the right to a place on the ballot, for which I refer my readers to former communications.

JOHN M. WHITEHEAD.

THE SITUATION

The result of the vote yesterday settled two or three questions beyond dispute. One is, that Senator Whitehead is popular at home. The opposition have heralded it over the state that he could not carry his own county. There will be no more talk of this kind. The second and third district are sold for him, with only a small majority against him in the first, which will disappear before the next convention.

Another question settled with equal certainty is that LaFollette is in a desperate and ready to resort to any methods to win. The crowd of saloon bums and democrats that packed the Fourth and Fifth ward caucuses, engineered by the Governor's lieutenants, show how desperate they are. In the Second ward where they were challenged the LaFollette steers claimed that they had a perfect right to vote.

The caucuses in all of the wards was a study and any man familiar with the town could size up the crowd. There are less than a dozen republican business men in the city who are LaFollette men. To make any showing at all it became necessary for this little coterie to enlist saloon democrats or any thing else that was enlistable. Arrayed against this motley crowd were the business and professional men of the city, backed by a strong and intelligent labor vote. The majority was heavy in every ward. If the men who engineered and led the minority can get any satisfaction out of that sort of a following then LaFollette is a long ways from republicanism, for that was the issue in the city, and fought for all that it was worth.

The effect on the state will be wholesome. There will be no more talk about Congressman Barney or any other candidate for governor. Men who have been on the fence and undecided will know where they are at. The governor himself will have more time to devote to his own country, which already shows signs of neglect.

So far as the First assembly district is concerned the fight there was largely against Cooper. The boys failed to recognize the fact that Cooper is already nominated, without the aid of Rock. Some people enjoy butting a stone wall for exercise and this is what a few towns in the First district did yesterday. Their heads may be a little sore for a few days, but they will recover in time to enjoy the hospitality at Madison when Rock County goes up to shout for the next governor, John M. Whitehead.

RIGHTEOUSNESS AND COURAGE.
There is an old Chinese proverb which reads: "Men who never violate their consciences are not afraid of a knock at their door at midnight."

The Persian expresses the same thought more tersely in the sentence, "He fled from his own shadow." While the Arab says: "No religion without courage." The old book dating back to the time of Solomon, says: "The righteous are bold as a lion; the wicked flee when no man pursueth."

The principle is as old as man, and it has lost nothing in transmission.

The strength of the army is not always determined by numbers, and the courage of an individual may not always be estimated by physical development.

It takes more than might to make right, and a hopeless cause is frequently redeemed because back of it is the power of right.

This principle is recognized in every department of life and there never was a time in history when honesty meant more than it does today.

The boy who commences the work of life filled with hope and courage, succeeds in proportion to the amount of honesty and righteousness, with which the preparation for work has been invested. If in the home he has brought sorrow to the mother by deception, or if he has avoided the keen eye of the father, as he attempted to penetrate some of the mysteries of his escapades, he goes into life handicapped. Not because he is a thief, and dishonest, but because he has not been true to himself and while there may come to him a sense of freedom from restraint, as he leaves the old home, he soon discovers that personal responsibility means vastly more than parental restraint.

There are a great many law abiding people, who are moral cowards, because they have not been true to the voice of conscience. The voice that is never audible to any other ear, and whose tones are so low that frequently they are lost in the tumult, and yet an ever present voice possessed by every created soul.

It is a popular notion with many people that conscience is a part of the church paraphernalia; that people who belong to a church ought to be good, because they profess to be, and it is expected of them. They appear to forget that conscience, the voice that always says "do right," is older than any church, and more important than all creeds. The Chinaman with a wooden idol to represent his highest ideal of Deity, recognizes the fact that he has a conscience, and if he obeys it, he will have no occasion to fear a knock on the door at midnight.

Obedience to the voice of conscience, is not a question of church obligation, but it is a question of personal obligation and is as binding on the people of the new century as it was on the races that lived many centuries ago.

An element of weakness, which is painfully apparent in these days of rapid development, is fear, born of distrust in personal ability.

Many young men are at a loss to understand why they fail to get to the front, failing to recognize the fact that they have been tested, and found wanting. They are honest, in the general acceptance of the term, faithful in the performance of duty, and yet other boys, apparently no better endowed, pass them in the race.

It may not have occurred to them that habits and associations have much to do with success, or that more than honesty is required to win the prizes. If confronted with sudden responsibility they would shrink from it, and run away, rather than assume it, through fear of their own ability to accomplish.

Employers in every department of toll, whether it be labor of the hand or brain, or both, are constantly on the alert for young men who are not only honest but who are so absorbed in their own work that they soon take on ability for more responsible service.

When the fireman is promoted to the seat on the other side of the cab, the company has confidence in the man, and the man has confidence in himself. The company is willing to trust life and property in the hands of a man who, up to the day of promotion, has assumed no responsibility except to keep his engine clean and supplied with fuel.

He has been tested, not only for honesty and faithfulness, but for intelligence and ability. His moral character has been revealed and his reputation for sobriety fully established.

He may not be a prohibitionist, or he may not make any pretensions to piety, but he is a master of himself and all the forces of evil would fail to make him recreant to duty.

He has the courage of conviction and the disposition to do right has been so thoroughly cultivated that confidence is inspired, and failure not considered.

The line of promotion in many departments of labor is more gradual, and advancement is made step by step, but the same principles apply. There is room for young men everywhere, who are full of courage and confidence in their own ability to accomplish.

The life that submits to conscience as a guide, has no occasion to fear, and but little cause to worry.

NO PROXIES

The action of the Republican State Central Committee, in attempting to control the policy of the state convention, is another evidence of desperation. Every convention assumes the right to govern itself and the right is never disputed.

The State Central Committee, in its ambition to serve the governor, ignored all law and precedent and assumes a roll of authority that is dictatorial and illegal.

The convention will decide for itself, who is competent to take part in its proceedings. While a county convention may be competent to instruct its delegates, and the state may not ignore these instructions, the State Central Committee has no right in the premises.

It is customary to admit proxies in all conventions. Death and other contingencies are liable to create vacancies, and when these occur, the delegation are given the right of representation.

The action of the committee is on a par with the governor's policy from the day of his election. It is an insult to the intelligence of the state and is simply another specimen of one man power.

The convention will be composed of 1,067 republican delegates. They will be men of ordinary intelligence to say the least. Many of them will be the equal of the Madison dictator. To say that they will submit to the class of dictation suggested, is to assume that common sense has been sacrificed to the worship of an idol and while this sort of homage may be accorded by some of the governor's admirers, the sentiment does not prevail in the rank and file of the party.

Republicanism is greater than any man connected with the party, however highly he may have been honored. The governor may be competent when it comes to taxing tea and dogs, but when it comes to controlling the rights of the party in convention assembled, he exceeds authority.

POLITICS AND EDUCATION

By what Divine right the governor's committee assumed control of state property by placing a state educational building at the disposal of a political party, is a question that is just now causing liberal discussion.

The gymnasium, or any other public building is sacred for the use to which it is dedicated. Madison may be unfortunate in not having a convention hall, but that is no reason why the property of the state should be prostituted for political purposes.

If the governor was determined to have the convention in his home town he might better have recommended an open air meeting in the park, than to consent to the use of a state building.

There is a sense of propriety, that even governors are supposed to respect. The state does not own a political wigwag, and people do not take very kindly to the idea of furnishing a state building for that purpose.

LA FAYETTE COUNTY

The victory claimed by the LaFollette forces in LaFayette county, is destitute of glory, and when the reaction comes, it will be of doubtful importance.

The caucuses throughout the county showed a clean majority of 14 stalwart delegates. There was no opposition to Cooper and the importance of personal attendance was not fully realized. Twenty two stalwart proxies were secured by LaFollette men, on the ground that the convention was a unit for Cooper. This gave the LaFollette men control of the convention and as soon as organized, they proceeded to seat one LaFollette delegate, representing eight votes, from a county precinct where no caucus had been held.

This kind of tactics may be all right for the first heat, but there will be a reaction before the next convention.

Game wardens, oil inspectors, state officials and democrats presented a bold front at the caucuses last night and retired from the field vanquished. Mr. Cooper will be nominated by acclamation and conservative republicanism will establish the claim that has long been made in the county.

Out in the town of Plymouth the LaFollette men were scarce and instead of voting for five delegates they insisted on the right to cast five votes for one delegate. The chairman had the good sense to rule them out, and a solid republican delegation was elected.

Mayor Richardson will hardly go to Congress this year, but he may have a chance to visit the assembly later in the season.

Perry Wilder, of Evansville, has discovered that he is neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet.

It was no fault of the LaFollette forces that the Second ward was not captured by Democratic votes.

For ways that are dark and plans that will bear watching, commend us to LaFolletteism.

A glad hand and hypnotic smile was too much for the First district.

PHENOMENAL

SUCCESS OF THE OLDSMOBILE MACHINE DURING THE PAST SEASON.

Sold in All Portions of This Country as Well as in Europe.

The phenomenal success of the Oldsmobile during the past season has demonstrated beyond all question of doubt that it is the automobile for which the public has been anxiously waiting ever since the beginning of the industry. The Olds Motor Works are making a machine that is ready to go any distance, starting at a moment's notice; the truth of this claim having been demonstrated by the enormous sales.

It has gone into the hands of the inexperienced with the most satisfactory results, and was unquestionably the most popular motor carriage of the year, the demand far exceeding the capacity to build them.

The Oldsmobile will be found in every state in the Union, working in any climate, over all sorts of roads, and giving a good account of itself, even under the most unfavorable conditions. It is simple, durable and reliable, the result of sixteen years' practical experience in building gasoline motors, and of careful attention to detail in construction, realizing all of the many requirements necessary to produce a satisfactory automobile, when in the hands of inexperienced people.

The Oldsmobile is strictly a runabout, weighing but 800 pounds. It is made in but one style, and only one finish, each and every part being made to a standard. The range of speed is from three to twenty miles per hour, over city streets, boulevards or country roads; the light weight and mode of construction enabling the carriage to run smoothly over rough or heavy roads, that would be quite impassable for those of a heavier type. It is tested before shipping with a load on a 20 per cent grade, and the grade of the average hill is only 10 or 12 per cent, the tests show the vehicle to have ample power for any section of the country.

The Oldsmobile has been under test forty miles on one gallon of common stove gasoline, but as a rule will require one gallon for twenty-five miles for the average road, the expense of running being about 4 cent per mile. Frank H. Blodgett, the local agent, would be pleased to show this wonderful machine to all who are interested.

STEAM ROLLER DOES DAMAGE

Frightens a Team, and the Driver and a Young Lady Are Injured.

The steam roller was indirectly responsible for another accident this morning which might have resulted much more seriously than it did. Fred Schaumann, a farmer living in the town of LaPrairie and his daughter, Ella were the victims this time and luckily escaped without any serious injury.

Horses Frightened
Mr. Schaumann and his daughter were coming up Main street in a lumber wagon drawn by a pair of horses. The steam roller, in charge of Engineer Bennett, was going down street and George Croft was ahead to warn approaching teams. Schaumann started to pass the roller when opposite J. C. Roessling's residence. There was a broken wagon in the street near the curb belonging to Frank Schmiley and as Schaumann pulled out to pass the wagon he had to go towards the roller. His horses became excited and made two or three sharp lunges.

Fell Under The Horses
At the first lunge Schaumann lost the lines and slipped off the seat into the wagon box which was open at the front end and at the second lunge fell under the horses' feet and was quite badly bruised about the right shoulder and his arm and leg were skinned. When the horses made their first lunge and Schaumann slipped off the seat, his daughter Ella was also thrown from the wagon and fell under the horses' feet. She was saved from serious injury by the wagon catching against the front wheel and rolled her out of the way like a fender. The horses only made a couple of lunges after they started before they collided with a big tree in front of Mr. Roessling's home and were stopped.

Was Not Injured Much
Miss Schaumann was found to be all right with the exception of a few slight bruises, but her father appeared to be severely injured. He was carried into J. C. Roessling's home and Dr. James Gibson called. The doctor found there were no bones broken but that there was a severe contusion of the right shoulder, besides numerous bruises on other parts of his body.

The wagon was not much hurt, but the harnesses were somewhat broken. Taken all together it was a lucky escape for Schaumann and his daughter.

TALKS TO THE HIGH SCHOOL

Returned Philippine Soldier Tells of Life Over There, and of the Soldiers.

John McElroy, lately returned from several years' service as a member of the U. S. regular army in the Philippines, addressed the high school students yesterday, giving a very interesting talk on existing conditions in the island. A graphic description of the city of Manila was followed by an entertaining sketch of the natives, their manners, customs and lack of civilization. High tribute was paid General Lawton, who is the hero of the Philippines in the opinion of the speaker. In closing Mr. McElroy spoke eloquently of America's great opportunity in civilizing the natives and of the great need which exists for the work. The students were especially interested in what Mr. McElroy had to say because they knew it to be the testimony of one who had seen these things for himself. It was one of the most interesting talks ever given before the school.

MEETS WITH AN ACCIDENT

M. J. Whitney Breaks His Leg And Is Cared For at Myers House

M. J. Whitney, of Chicago, the traveling representative of the Raymond Lead Co., met with a mishap yesterday afternoon by which the bone of his right leg was broken about four inches above the knee.

Mr. Whitney was at McVicar Bros' plumbing establishment to sell a bill of goods, and as he had often done before, being a great friend of Will McVicar, started scuffling with him. They had hold of each others' shoulders and were pulling and fussing when Mr. McVicar stepped suddenly to one side and gave Mr. Whitney a quick twist. The move put all of Mr. Whitney's weight on his right leg and as his body twisted around the bone snapped short off. A carriage was called and the injured man taken to the Hotel Myers and Dr. James Gibson called to attend him.

A telegram was sent to Mrs. Whitney in Chicago, informing her of the accident and she arrived here last evening to be with her husband. Mr. Whitney has a large number of friends in this city who will be sorry to hear of his misfortune and hope for his speedy recovery.

We Know What

Is going to happen to the little boy who is stuffing himself with green apples. A grown man couldn't be induced to try that experiment; and yet the grown man will overload himself with indigestible food for which he will pay a greater penalty than colic. It is this careless and thoughtless eating which is the beginning of stomach trouble and all its painful consequences.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other forms of "stomach trouble." It restores the weak and run-down man or woman to sound health.

"Some time has elapsed since I have written you in regard to the treatment I have been taking under your instructions," says Mr. E. F. Cingmarrs, of Minneapolis, Minn. "When first I commenced taking your medicine I was under treatment of a well-known specialist in this city (and had been for four months), for catarrh, and especially stomach trouble, and I was rapidly getting worse. Got so bad that I could not eat anything that did not distress me terribly, and I was obliged to quit taking the doctor's treatment entirely. I was greatly reduced in flesh. As a last resort I wrote to you and stated my case, and, after receiving your instructions I followed them closely. After taking five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vital Pellet's cure, I commenced to improve, and decided to continue the medicines and observe your instructions regarding hygienic treatment. It is now nearly six months since I commenced your treatment and I can say that I am well and never felt better in my life. Am very grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me."

WHAT A BLESSING

Many People in Janesville Learning To Appreciate.

Many a miserable man is happy now. Night of unrest, days of trouble. Itching Piles means this. Eczema just as bad, and just as bad to cure.

But Doan's Ointment cures all itching, of the skin.

Here's Janesville Proof To Back Our Statement.

Mr. L. Lawrence, of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says: "I tried about everything recommended for itching of the skin, but found nothing to give me relief until I struck Doan's Ointment at the People's drug store. I had an affection of the skin on my face caused from the burning oil about the engine and dynamo. My face itched and annoyed me, and rubbing it only made it worse and made it sore. I could hardly stand shaving, for the skin broke and bled. A few applications of Doan's Ointment removed the itchiness and healed up my face in a few days. I would not be without this remedy in my house, and I certainly recommend it to others in need of such a preparation."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for U. S. Also on sale at King's Pharmacy.

Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE CONDITIONS

Outlook in Coal Region Is Serious—
Railway Earnings Satisfactory—
Corn Acreage Increases

New York, May 24.—"Many minor labor controversies have been settled, but the situation in the anthracite coal region has assumed a more serious aspect. Railway earnings continue satisfactory, roads reporting for two weeks of May show gains at 6.1 per cent over last year and 18.4 per cent over 1900. No change is reported in the iron and steel situation, former conditions merely becoming intensified by the threatened decrease in supplies of fuel and the labor controversies in certain branches of the industry. The railways are seeking rails, rolling stock and other equipment, while contractors require much structural material." Trade conditions are thus summed up by Dun & Co.'s weekly review. The review continues: "Quiet conditions have prevailed in the cereal markets, with only a moderate volume of option transactions and fractional changes in quotation. Exports of wheat, including flour, were only 3,863,568 bushels during the past week from all ports of the United States, against 5,525,130 bushels in the corresponding week last year. Small receipts of corn, amounting to only 1,203,188 bushels for the week, against 3,667,042 a year ago, held the spot price at about 70 cents. Dispatches from correspondents of R. G. Dun & Co. indicate satisfactory progress with the new corn crop and a material increase in acreage. Slight concessions are now obtainable in some lines of footwear, although the market as a rule is fairly steady but dull. Leather is firmly held, especially desirable weights advancing, while domestic packer hides again made a definite gain. Print cloths are quiet at last week's decline. Failures for the week numbered 192 in the United States, against 180 last year, and twelve in Canada, against twenty-two last year."

HEAVYWEIGHTS FIGHT JULY 25

Jeffries and Fitzsimmons Arrange for Their Coming Battle.

San Francisco, May 24.—Final articles for the battle between Jeffries and Fitzsimmons for the championship of the world were signed Friday, and all arrangements completed for the contest. The fight will take place on the evening of July 25, probably at the Mechanics pavilion. Edward M. Graney will referee the contest. Jeffries is now at Harbin Springs in training. Fitzsimmons goes to Skaggs, in Sonora, and will begin work Monday.

During the conference it was practically arranged that one of the preliminaries to the big contest should be a fight between Jack Jeffries, brother of the champion, and "Soldier" Williams, sparring partner of Fitzsimmons, so that the spectators will see two heavyweight battles in one evening. It was decided that 60 per cent of the profits from the pictures should go to the winner and 20 per cent to the club.

Cassion escaped by swimming ashore. None of the bodies was recovered.

India Imposes Sugar Tax.

Simla, India, May 24.—With the object of preventing India from being flooded with "carton" sugar, a bill has been introduced in the Indian council empowering the government to impose a countervailing duty on bountied sugar until the Brussels convention becomes effective. Sugar shipped prior to May 23 will be exempt.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 24.—As the result of a fire which occurred at the transfer freight house of the New York Central in the William street yards at East Buffalo at midnight last night, J. J. Lester, a Canadian, unmarried, a New York Central employe, was killed and $350,000 worth of property destroyed.

FUNNY WALTER JONES

The Eccentric Genius Will Appear at The Opera House Next Tuesday. Walter Jones has laid aside his starring ambition for another season since enrolling himself among the merry musical folks in Frank L. Perley's great company that will be seen here in "The Chaparons." Mr. Jones has a unique position on the musical comedy stage by reason of the fact that he created one of the most laughable and original characters that has been presented to the American public in the last decade. It is a pleasure given to few actors to create a role that will live in stage history, and for that reason Mr. Jones, the impersonator of rural Reuben's will be long remembered even if he had never made another comedy hit. It was his original conception of the stage "Hobo" or "tramp" in "1492" nearly ten years ago, that brought his unique personality to the attention of theater goers. The immense popularity of his character creation resulted in a perfect deluge of stage tramps by countless imitators; nothing that Mr. Jones has given on the public since that time has approached in popularity his stage tramp until he took the role of an Irish adventurer in Paris with Frank L. Perley's new production. Mr. Jones impersonates an Irish subway contractor from New York, who is supposed to be studying rapid transit in the gay French capital. The clever comedian makes no effort to burlesque a modern Tammany politician, but pictures his character as a grotesque, Celtic individual with a jolly disposition and an amusing lack of any personal display. Mr. Jones absolutely burlesques himself in the part, but finds opportunity for his dances and songs, and unavoidably becomes involved in the plot of the pleasing travesty, "The Chaparons." He mingles in the whirl and gaiety of the Latin Quarter scene as if he really belonged there. The role was especially written for Mr. Jones, and he has made it one of the comedy hits of the production. Mr. Jones dresses the part in an excruciatingly funny style and invariably provokes laughter from the moment he emerges from the wings.
